BOOK NO. II - 2023

Hudson, New York
www.fernnyc.com

It's been nearly five years since we released our first book - a journal and catalog of our studio's collection since our founding in 2009.

The world has changed considerably since 2018, and we are so grateful to all of our clients who have supported us over this period. Our team has worked tirelessly to design and produce new pieces that further explore American small-scale design and manufacturing. Our goal is always to produce timeless, yet contemporary work that will see multi-generational use from our studio in Hudson, New York.

With Book No. 2, we are excited to introduce a new journal that catalogs our most recent work that has been so well-received by our friends and clients in the design community.

Sincerely,

Jason Roskey

TULIA

dining table

The Tulia Dining Table is an exploration of sculptural forms using laminated domestic hardwoods.

Jason grew up in Texas, and the name “Tulia” comes from a small Panhandle town you pass through on the way to Palo Duro Canyon. The canyon has geological features that influenced the table’s monumental-scaled base elements. These base elements can be arranged and sized to anchor a variety of table top sizes and shapes.

TULIA

round dining table

The Tulia Round Dining Table shares the same sculptural style base as the long version. It's equally at home in a foyer as it is in a dining room. Custom sizing available from 54" to 96" diameter.

ALPEN

long dining table

The Alpen Long Dining Table is a contemporary take on the classic trestle table. The table's base is comprised of laminated hardwoods that anchor the table's composition. The table top is available in a variety of shapes to accommodate different dining settings.

ALPEN

The Alpen Round Dining Table is the round version within the Alpen line. It features a sculptural base with a table diameter of 36-96”.

“A”

RIDGE

The Ridge Cabinet is part of a collaborative exploration of materials between our workshop that works primarily with wood and a local Hudson Valley metal shop's blackened steel hardware. Available in custom sizes from 48" to 120" in length, and in a variety of drawer/door configurations.

ANGUS

chair

Inspired by European club furniture of the early to middle-1900s, the Angus Sofa features a solid hardwood frame and hand-tied spring construction with recessed white oak feet.

SILO

chair

The Silo Chair is our interpretation of the humble, yet classic, wood dining chair found throughout the world. Our version features turned rungs, with each front and back rung exhibiting a unique turning pattern.

The seat is available with a saddle leather sling, woven Shaker tape, or woven Hickory Bark seat.

The weaving of Hickory Bark is an Appalachian technique that creates a very durable seat from the bark from hickory trees. The processing of the bark is a time-consuming process that is a dying art. We therefore are only able to offer a limited number of chairs with this material each year.

TAVERNE

The Taverne Chair is based on vernacular Alpine chairs found throughout Bavaria and France. The chair's seat features oversized swells to allow pinned mortise-and-tenon joinery for the legs and the back of the chair. The back's stick pattern features subtle curvature.
